

Characteristics of a Spirit Filled Church

The story goes that it was the middle of winter and the electricity had been knocked out by an ice storm. As families listen on their battery powered radio it was announced, "The following churches will be closed due to a lack of power." What a provocative statement! How many churches would be on that list today? They would not be closed for a lack of activity but a lack of power.

A Spirit-filled church is one that is composed of Spirit-filled believers, irrespective of their position in the local church. In other words, the Spirit does not just reside in them but also preside over them. This is the only way the church can fulfill its divine function.
